

Maximum Motorsports Offers Contingency Programs for NASA's American Iron & Camaro-Mustang Challenge Championship Events

SAN LUIS OBISPO, CA. — Maximum Motorsports will support NASA road racers with contingency-award programs for American Iron, American Iron Extreme, Spec Iron, and the Camaro-Mustang Challenge at both 2017 NASA Championship events; the Western States Championship at Thunderhill Raceway Park, and the Eastern States Championship at Sebring International Raceway Circuit.

The MM contingency-prize program will award $1,000 to First Place champions in the AI, AIX, Spec Iron, and CMC classes at each of the two NASA 2017 Championship events.

Eligibility for these NASA contingency prizes is not automatic. To learn how to qualify for these MM awards, visit the "Contingency Program" section linked at the bottom of each page of the MM website, www.maximummotorsports.com; call (805) 544-8748, or contact NASA directly.
